CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

Late authentic information received here indicates that while the European invasion casualties were not as many as originally expected, they were much heavier than first reported. While the fighting has been bitter and continuous, the first phases of the invasion have been carried out on or ahead of schedule. The real test in France will come when the full strength of the German reserves are thrown against the Allied forces. In the war against Germany the importance of the recent great victories of the American armies in Italy should not be overlooked, for the effect thereof will be far-reaching.

Last Thursday afternoon the House of Representatives passed, without a single dissenting vote, the War Department Appropriation Bill earmarking $4.9 billion dollars for use of the Army in the coming fiscal year, which begins July 1st. It is hoped and believed future military developments will make unnecessary the spending of all this huge fund. However, in time of war, good judgment and discretion permit no relaxation in military production or expenditures until final victory has been won. A few minutes after the forty-nine billion war bill was passed an amendment was made on the House floor that a large flight of our new giant B-29 bombers had successfully attacked war production centers throughout Japan in an hour long raid; and, also, that safe landings had been made by American troops in the Mariana Islands—another long step on the road to Tokyo.

The Price Control Act, passed the House last Wednesday and was immediately sent to a Conference Committee, where an attempt will be made to work out the differences between the House and Senate versions of the measure. In a week long fight critics of OPA were able to write into the law a number of important amendments. One of these prohibits continuation of the so-called "price line" regulation, which has limited merchants to selling of goods in the same price ranges as stocked in 1941. Another amendment adopted grants citizens the right of appeal from OPA price regulations, penalties, etc., to any Federal Court. A third amendment would require processors of agricultural commodities to pay established parity prices to producers, while still another tentative change in the law would permit landlords to add increased taxes and operating costs to rental charges now frozen under the Rent Control Act. It should be borne in mind that any or all of these amendments may be entirely eliminated or greatly changed by the Conference Committee.

The House is expected to conclude action early this week on the Contract Termination Act, designed to provide means and methods to quickly terminate war contracts following victory, so that private industry may convert to production of civilian goods at the earliest possible moment, thus avoiding a long period of widespread unemployment and business stagnation. It is extremely difficult, of course, to draft any legislation of this nature that will permit rapid reconversion of war industries to peacetime manufacturing while at the same time giving proper protection against fraud and waste.

JAMAICAN LABORERS ARRIVE

One hundred seventy-four Jamaican laborers arrived at the Farm Labor Camp at Bryan State Park at Yellow Springs, Sunday noon, to assist farmers in Greene and Clark Counties during the next four or five months. In addition to this group, four Jamaicans arrived last week to take charge of the kitchen and to assist in getting the camp in readiness.

The men arrived direct from Jamaica having left their homes a week earlier. Of the 172 men now in camp, only one man was stationed at the camp last summer. The men were secured by the Farm Labor committees of Greene and Clark Counties, Greene contracting for 75 workers and Clark for 100. Myron Fudge is chairman and Haydon Blackett secretary of the Greene County committee.

Employers will furnish transportation for the workers from camp to farm and return each day. The laborers' time starts upon arrival at the farm and continues until quitting time in the evening, except for a reasonable time out for dinner. The rate of pay is 50c per hour with the worker furnishing his own lunch. Requests for this help may be made at the county agent's office or by phoning the Farm Labor camp.

JUDGE JOHNSON

"ORUM" SPEAKER—Judge Frank L. Johnson will be guest speaker at the Farm Forum Monday evening, June 26 at 7:30 at Yellow Springs. The Sugar Creek committee with Joe White, Jr., chairman and Harold Tate co-chairman are arranging the program. Special music will be rendered by Linda Lee Haines, Mary Jane White and Grace Louise Garner. Supper will be served at 7:30 and reservations may be made at the county agent's office.

NINETY-FIVE SOIL

SAMPLES TESTED—Ninety-five soil samples were analyzed and recommendations made at the State Soil Laboratory which visited Xenia last Friday. Dr. F. J. Salter and E. P. Reed of the soils and crops department of Ohio State University accompanied the laboratory testing the soils and making recommendations on time requirements, and the kinds and amounts of fertilizers needed for specific crops. The soil analysis tests show the degree of acidity, the amount of active calcium, and the available phosphorus and potash in each soil.

MORE WIRE AND NAILS

Ceiling prices have been established to permit the disposal of excess stocks of fencing, barbed wire and nails to be released to civilians by manufacturers and government agencies. The increased need for copper wire for military radar installations has caused a 30 per cent reduction in the quantity of copper wire allocated to civilians in 1944 and this will reduce the number of farms which can get electric power hookups this year.

SOY BEANS—

SUPPORT PRICE FOR—The base support price for 1944 soy beans will be $2.04 a bushel for No. 2 green or yellow beans containing not more than 14 percent moisture. Premiums will be paid for lower moisture content and deductions will be taken if beans have more than 14 percent moisture.

ARGENTINE CORN ON WAY

During July, the first of about 400,000 bushels of Argentine corn is expected to arrive in the United States. Imports will arrive at both Atlantic and Pacific ports.

Hog Farms Get New Deal Eggs For Hog Feed At 5c A Case

W. H. Malloy, a hog feeder, located near East St. Louis, Ill., says he purchased eight car loads of government eggs at $30 a carload from the war food administration in Chicago. Each car contained 600 cases and each case contains 30 dozen.

While eggs were selling at 39c a dozen in Chicago, Malloy paid 5c a case or $30 a carload. The eggs were shipped from Minnesota in refrigerated cars at government expense, the freight being more than 5c a case. Most of the eggs were in good condition he says.

The war food administration purchased 4 1/2 million cases of eggs at 27c a dozen. So far 114,000 cases have been sold at 5c a case through single car lots the eggs sometimes brought 8 cents a case. The 114,000 cases of eggs sold cost the income taxpayers $923,400, while the government only received $5,700, for the eggs to be fed to hogs, making a loss of $917,700, which must be made up by increased income taxes on labor as well as the white collar class and the wealthy.

Farmers Told Votes

Needed For Freedom

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the Farm Bureau delegates from 11 western states last Saturday that farmers must leave their cows and plows and go to the polls to save the American way of life with its traditions of freedom and independence. O'Neal told his hearers that when the time came the CIO can mass action by blocks of voters, "then farm people will have only themselves to blame."

WATCH FOR THE GOBLINS!

The OPA has sent out a notice that individuals cannot sell used furniture, stoves, and household goods at private or public sale, over established ceiling prices, the same as those set for regular dealers. Selling over the ceiling prices is a violation of the New Deal regulation. Watch out for the New Deal goblins! You get your!

50 Years of College Life

BY ELMER JURKAT

Cedarville College athletics have recently broadened out more as a system of physical development for all rather than competitive sports for a few. Tennis, volleyball, and track made their appearance, and with the fading out of feminine basketball, the girls developed a sports program of greater variety and enjoyment under such instructors as Mary Jean Townsley and Dorothy and Elizabeth Anderson.

The boys have gone in more strenuously for baseball than in years gone by, and turned out snappier teams. Higher games, Clyde Walker, Ed Gillespie, Cecil Thomas, Harry Wallace, Joe Waddle, and Jim Northup are a few of the recent diamond men, and they have won their games against the old familiar opponents, Wilmington, Defiance, Wilberforce, Dayton, and Bunker. Since neither Cedarville nor Antioch had football squads, they amicably got together one season for a couple of soccer games. The score both times was 3 to 3. What would coach Scarff have said?

The boys also had time for a longer basketball season, and mainly under coach John Ault they climbed, to where they won eight out of ten in 1937. In 1939 they did even better, winning thirteen games and the Championship of the Northwest Ohio Conference. Eugene Kavanaugh, Kenneth McNeal, John Reinhard, and Russell Roberts were a few on the large squad that trimmed Wilmington, Bluffton, and even Otterbein. Things should have been pretty exceptional that year though, for there were at least five coaches working in the different departments: Leslie Miller, Kenneth McNeal, Wiley, Jackson, and Johnny Mills.

College annual staffs have taken a tip from the picture magazines and put together some handsome books that attractively illustrate college life and show what went on, and how, and why. The 1938 Corona, edited by James Anderson and Martha Bryant, or the one which Russell Roberts, Oradec Stewart, and Catherine Ferguson produced in 1940 are two examples at random of top flight reporting.

In order to keep the school running smoothly in a world that gets more complex economically, it was found advisable recently to hire a business manager. Mr. John L. Dorst of Springfield was the first one, followed by Mr. Ira D. Vayhinger, who has now become the college's fourth and current president.

In fact the college purchased a farm where students of limited means could work part time and thus gain assistance toward an education. There is a current scarcity of boys, but the land will wait.

This just about brings us down to present day affairs at the college. Of course we haven't included everything that happened. Half a century can be gorged with people and happenings; and of the hundreds of trustees, professors, and students who climbed the limestone steps and slammed the doors of Gibson Hall, each had his own biography, his own effect on the school.

Lots of items have had to be omitted. We have left out the description of the once popular Faculty Reception at the Library, when all the books were hidden with white muslin and cedar twigs. We didn't tell about that early Cedar Day when it poured rain, and performers and audience were crowded steaming and disappointed into the chapel for the program. When you had to climb wearily to the third floor offices. When students drove horses and "rigs", and there was a large, circular hitching rack near the ball diamond. When centerfield was a rocky hill and a ball player's nightmare.

There was the time Jean Morton sprained her ankle on a chapel stacking expedition, when Harold Lift hid an auto seat in the old well in centerfield, when cowboy Frazier Fields in 1922 rotten egged the students and the town boys into a near riot, when boys of early years used to climb the incanted brick front of the college like human flies, when Coach Warner and friends burned a fake Ku Klux cross on Lowry's bridge.

And just try to recall all the church socials, the Hallowe'en frolics, the Bible Reading Contests, musical recitals, president's receptions, the Y. W. Committal services. Remember those annual affairs of elegance and impersonation, the Mock Weddings; especially the more lively ones at John Johnson's, or Oglesbee's, or Doris Swaby's.

There are always, too, some people who stand out above the crowd. Remember dark-haired professor Sloan who rode a blue bicycle, or Mr. Bauman the chemist, who carried snakes in his pockets, Rev. Lee, the colored

Democrat Senator Charges Racketeering

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, Dem., of Texas, is not mincing words in his campaign against Roosevelt for a fourth term. He charges the New Deal had "set up machinery for the biggest racket this world has ever seen for the purpose of perpetuating itself in power. He also charged the administration had transferred part of the government's taxing power to a gang of labor-leader racketeers by supporting the checkoff collection of union dues."

HERALD ANNOUNCES A HOLIDAY

The Herald announces a holiday for the week beginning June 26 and ending Monday, July 1. For this reason there will be no issue of the Herald on Friday, June 30th. This will be the first time the Herald will have missed an issue since the paper fell under the present management, on April 8, 1899, forty-five years ago.

We have been informed by former owners that the Herald enjoyed an unusual record of never missing an issue since it was founded in 1877. We had hoped to hold out for a fifty year record but circumstances make it impossible at this time. Many weekly papers close their plants for a full week to give their employees a vacation. Daily papers discontinue issues on various holidays, so we see no reason why our readers will not approve of a holiday week, at least the first in forty-five years. There will be no mechanical work yet the office will be open at intervals during the week.

The vacation, if it can be called such, attending the Republican National Convention in Chicago as an alternate, will be an interesting event and one only a comparatively few citizens ever have the opportunity of attending in a life time.

In as much as Governor John W. Bricker is seeking the nomination of president on his party ticket, and we have been one of his staunch supporters, because his official life in Ohio is a strong recommendation for the nomination, we are pleased to offer our service in his behalf.

Nothing will please us better than to be able to announce his nomination in our issue of July 7th, regardless of the fact the daily press and radio will have announced it first.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OPENS MONDAY

With Governor John W. Bricker a potential candidate for the presidential nomination at the Republican National convention in Chicago, starting Monday, all Ohioans will keep an eye on radio and news reports from that city when the convention opens.

There are but two outstanding candidates in the running at present and really Governor Bricker is the only candidate that has openly stated both a foreign and domestic policy. Gov. Bricker, New York, has not definitely announced yet he is credited with more delegate support than this is questioned by the Bricker supporters. Roy Moore, Canton, O., publisher, has managed the Governor's pre-convention campaign.

Governor Bricker has prevailed on Cong. Clarence J. Brown to become his convention floor manager and he is expected to arrive in Chicago Saturday morning. Mr. Brown is credited with having a personal acquaintance with more of the various state Republican leaders, and delegates, than any one other person. He managed the Taft floor convention fight and was manager of the vice presidential campaign of the late Frank Knox. Senator Robert A. Taft is to be chairman of the important resolutions committee which is now in session drawing up the document.

Another honor that is slated for Cong. Brown, is that the Ohio delegation will name him as National Committeeman for Ohio. Both Senators Taft and Burton favor Brown's selection. The election of Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown as national committee woman for another term is assured. Her home is in Dayton.

Many political and social functions have been arranged for the Ohio delegation during the week. Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Burton, wives of the Senators, Mrs. Kennedy Brown and Mrs. Lottie Randolph and Miss Louise Jones, Columbus will honor Mrs. Bricker with a "tea" at the Stevens Hotel grand ballroom Monday afternoon from four to five o'clock. Numerous civic and commercial organizations have also issued invitations for various receptions during the week.

Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, Republican nominee for Governor, and one of the outstanding orators in the state, will make the nomination speech presenting the name of Governor Bricker to the convention.

The convention will be held in the Stadium which seats 25,000 persons. Chicago has had more national conventions, Republican and Democratic than any other city in the country. We have reviewed a little history and find the first Republican convention was held at Chicago in the "Wigwam" which was erected at a cost of $5,000 when Lincoln was nominated for president in 1860. The following Republican candidates were nominated at Chicago conventions as follows: Grant in 1868; Garfield in 1880; Harrison in 1888; Theodore Roosevelt in 1904; Taft in 1908; and again in 1912; Hughes in 1916; Harding in 1920 and Hoover in 1928.

The editor expects to be in attendance at the convention as an alternate to Cong. Clarence J. Brown, and we hope to be able to give you some of the sidelights of the convention that will not likely be found in daily news dispatches.

Mrs. L. G. Benham, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Anderson, who has been teaching in Miami county schools, is leaving for a girls' camp at Camp Forest Acres, Fryburg, Maine, to take a position of swimming instructor for the summer.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT LANDS THIRD

Look Magazine, noted picture periodical, some time ago made a survey of opinion of Washington correspondents asking them whom they considered the most useful official in Washington.

The result was startling to newsmen. They have a close viewpoint of official life in the capital. Franklin D. was not first. Nor was Franklin D. second.

Franklin D. was rated only third most useful official, one thing he of course would never admit. In other words the newsmen considered FDR absolutely dispensable, or he can be done without.

The most useful man was a soldier, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff. Second most useful man was Cordell Hull, secretary of state.

The unusual Look Magazine poll also selected the ten most useless persons in Washington. First was Frances Perkins, to be followed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., then Claude R. Wick, was third with Henry A. Wallace, the V. P., Francis Biddle, as the majority of the Roosevelt cabinet.

Another group of "useless persons", according to the magazine were Harry L. Hopkins, Paul McNutt, Sen. Joe Guffey, D. from Pennsylvania and John E. Rankin, D., congressman from Mississippi. Evidently there was no poll taken as to the first ten "most useless women" in Washington, taken by the Look magazine, or did one certain one represent the first ten?

CIO BOODLE FUND FOR A FOURTH TERM

The result of the Maine primary this week when the head of the CIO union leader ran for the primary nomination for congress on both the Democratic and Republican tickets, proved a thud and evidently the Republican voters, and conservative Democrats as well, joined to give the CIO a drubbing. The CIO candidate won the Democratic primary seat by a very light vote. Cong. Hale, Rep., was renominated by a vote that was about five times greater than the combined vote of the CIO candidate.

Boasts were made previously that the CIO Political Action Committee had funds to elect their candidate on both tickets but this did not prove true. It is reported the same aid society of the New Deal has something like $65,000 as a boodle fund to elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the union endorsed candidates on the Democratic ticket in this state.

It is certainly a sad commentary in a so-called democracy where in a federal official, Attorney General Biddle, can twist the law and say a $750,000 campaign fund is not in violation of the Hatch act, when it is for political purposes. Let any corporation, college or church, raise a similar sum for political purposes, even for adoption of the prohibition amendment, and immediately some New Deal crack-pot will render an opinion or the Supreme Court decide such a fund is in violation of the Hatch act. There can be no violation when you purchase votes for a New Dealer.

Ohio faces a genuine fight this fall, not so much from the Democrats, as from the CIO and New Deal boodlers. All sorts of promises are being made certain groups of voters for political purposes. There is a close relation now between the CIO and the AAA, because the former is backing the latter. Both are scratching each other's back. The CIO preaches low priced hogs, eggs, milk, etc., whether the farmer gets a profit or not and the New Deal makes this possible by using the AAA to appease the union leaders. Hogs were 16c, now they are 12c and less, a little yet over the AAA so called parity price, which was around 10c a pound to the farmer. Now you have the hogs regimented by the New Deal just as the farmers are regimented by the AAA.

Chester H. Lake, $5,800-a-year New Deal executive of the Rural Electrification Administration, has gone on a hunger strike because he lost his job. He has been connected with electricity work for years and says he is tired because he "opposed using electricity for the farmers to finance two New Deal finance companies. It is likely Lake has at back and seen the New Deal use other funds for the rural electrification program. Lake charges crookedness in the Department of Agriculture which has control of the rural electric program. If there is anything run according to law in most any of the New Deal departments, Lake should point it out. When his administration is charged with printing millions in French money, air a discredited. French political faction in that country, a little crooked in the Ag Department could be expected. It might be more interesting to have the public know just how much income tax some of the New Deal big shots pay each year. About four years of a Republican administration might turn the light on a lot of things that even Lake knows nothing about. Selling legal papers out of the White House for a $100,000 did not disturb a New Dealer. Millions of graft in the Canadian oil scandal and a hundred million dollar contract for the government for defense purposes in the Pacific, is yet to be uncovered. Moreover the contract was let to a German alien with war in the distant at the time.

There is dirty work at the cross roads. Little tiny Finland recently sent this country a check for a good many thousand dollars as payment of her share of War One debt! No other European country has done as much, not even Churchill's British, Stalin's Russia. A few days after accepting this payment Roosevelt, Hull and Co. order Finland's representatives to leave this country as soon as a "boat arrives." Finland is between Germany and Russia in this cruel war and forced to fight to save her honor as well as her people. If she did not fight Germany—Russia would eat her up. If she refused to line up with the allies, then Roosevelt and Churchill would turn their guns on the helpless people, whose country is not as large as a postage stamp on any map. The New Deal theory of hate crops out at every turn, yet it was not so long ago we heard much about a prayer being offered for liberation of the oppressed peoples of the world. Just what god preaches "hate" is the next question. The motto at the White House is "Those that are not with me are against me."

With the Roosevelt self-appointed Supreme Court of Kluxers, police jurists and Harvard Communists, holding that the insurance business was interstate commerce and in violation of the anti-trust laws, with one swoop insurance companies equal in a way. That is a weak company is to be just as good as a bad company, for under control of the states all companies doing business in that state must meet certain regulations. You will recall what the Hughes investigation of life insurance companies in New York was and the good that was accomplished for the policy holders. Now Roosevelt would turn his wrecking crew loose and thus let the bunk companies, the fly-by-nights, take money from the public and guarantee little or no protection. The fire insurance policy is not better than the company that wrote the policy and the company under strict state regulation made the policy safe. Now under the crackpot Supreme Court your policy will be worth just what you can get out of it because Roosevelt wants his hands on the control of that business amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars. You will recall the Roosevelt family has an insurance agency that writes liability insurance to companies that have government contracts.

The newspaper columnists and commentators have been put to a new and novel test. They have gone to their desks, new and old editions in search of "prayer" what it has always been and what it is today under the New Deal dispensation. It is the first time in our newspaper experience of more than forty years that the term has become a subject for debate. In religious circles, the "prayer" today is just what prayer was in olden days. The purpose of it is the same. Now that it has been given a global political application, newsmen are a bit perplexed. One thing can be said that sincerity of purpose of prayer by any individual should never be questioned but when its use is for political purposes, well, that is something else. If the commentators do not find something more than what is on the surface, a political prayer may be as common in the future as an election campaign.

The invasion White House prayer stands unique. The request or desire or petition as one would say was not addressed as commonly used. The humility and reverence, the supplication of worldly things and desires. The application was for world political relief, something entirely in man's control. Columnist John O'Donnell commenting says the resentment over the White House prayer has been swift, deadly and nation wide.

As a journeyman reporter, we have never felt qualified to read copy on a formal prayer—particularly one which was industriously composed, mimeographed at public expense and then broadcast on highly valuable radio time. And so today we sought the advice of professionals—Protestant and Catholic clergymen. They didn't like the spiritual qualities of the Roosevelt prayer. All declared that better and more appropriate prayers had already been written—plain, simple words that best suit the ear of grief and call upon the spirit with welcome familiarity of old friends. Above all they objected to the note of grating arrogance in the saying the prayer recalled memory like the overtone of politics—even when it was spread out on a global scene.

"After all, there are going to be more American women voting for president next November than men. The reaction of mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts to the Roosevelt personally composed prayer... indicated that F. D. R. and the Supreme Being were partners in these days of death."

as a self-annointed Apostle of the Prince of Peace, the emergence of a political messiah from the mountebank, was too much for that journal. Gently, they utter the soft impeachment.

"Perhaps there are some who think the President's prayer might have been still more moving and eloquent had he protested less about the righteousness of our cause and the inflexibility of our purpose—since it is, after all, God who judges causes and disposes of the purposes of men—or had he been content merely to repeat some ancient and hallowed formula such as the Lord's Prayer... One of these days we may discover in our selves those things which are necessary to all real prayer—humility, contrition, and the sense of dependence upon God, with whom, it is said, all things are possible, and without whom nothing is possible."

Gov. John W. Bricker
Lauds the Press
Columbus, O., June 12—To the newspapers of America I wish to express my thanks and my admiration for the splendid, intelligent new treatment given my candidacy for the Republican nomination for President.

One of the most reassuring and inspiring aspects of our nation in its present crisis is the vigorous yet dignified manner in which newspaper publishers and editors are not only defending but justifying our American privilege of free speech and an untrammelled press.

In the case of my own candidacy as an example, it is most inspiring to see the fair news accounts of my campaign activities given prominence throughout the country, regardless of the editorial position of the particular newspapers.

While such typically American fair play continues to guide the newspapers of our nation, we may feel assured that we have a vigilant defense against those forces, which, from within and without, would seek to weaken or destroy our American way of life.

The Latham Sisters

Coming, June 27

The public is invited to enjoy a series of revival services each evening at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Nazarene, starting June 27 and closing July 9th.

"The Latham Sisters" are chalk artists, singers, musicians and preachers. Mary and Joy Latham are high type Southern ladies. Born in Shreveport, La. They received their elementary education in the grade schools of Shreveport, attended high school in Cincinnati, graduated from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky. Studied piano in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Taught school for several years. Since responding to the call of God to religious work they have traveled throughout the United States conducting meetings in some of the large churches and camps of the nation.

GEORGE W. SWARTZ WILL RETIRE JUNE 30th

After June 30th the Court House will hardly be the same to state and county officials and those who have daily business with the county and the courts. George W. Swartz, 73, who has been custodian of the building for 26 years is retiring on that date. He has been just as much of a minstrel actor or vaudeville as his daily work as he has been numerous times in home-town productions.

George went to work for the county back in the days when you did not have to have a "sheep-skin" civil service diploma to get a job. Then you had to know more about politics in the "west-end" than you did about trick questions in a civil service exam. Then there were a few that knew the county had made a mistake, due of course to the powers that gave him the appointment. Now everybody signs George's praise and rightfully for his service has been most excellent, proving in that always dotting the "i" and crossing the "t" will not always be a sign the windows will be kept clean or the floors, chairs and desks always dusted ready for the opening of the Court House the next day.

George will still be found up-town regardless of his resignation. He will continue to be custodian of the Xenia National Bank. "Luck to you George." The county officials have arranged for a picnic when employees and families will honor Mr. and Mrs. Swartz at a gathering at the fairgrounds, Wednesday evening, June 28. William Short, Nash Road, has been named by the county commissioners to fill the vacancy and he is now receiving instructions from Mr. Swartz.

FINE PEACH CROP IN SIGHT

Mr. Blair Brasel, Cartter, Ill., an alumnus of Cedarville College, who attended the funeral of Dr. W. R. McChesney says he and his father will have a fine peach crop this year. The peach orchard covers ninety-five acres and there is also an orchard of 55 acres of pears. In addition there is 65 acres of wheat with corn and oat crops. The farm is managed by father and son.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT THE

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Musical Program will be presented Tuesday evening, June 27th at 8:30 in the Presbyterian Church Auditorium. The program includes vocal and instrumental numbers, and readings by Miss Basore. There will be no sale of tickets, but a free will offering will be received.

Among the choral numbers on the program will be "The Children's Prayer" from "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck (as sung on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour); Noble Cain's "America My Own"; and many other classical and popular numbers.

A Social Hour will follow the concert with Tea served by the "Broadcaster Class", of the Sabbath School. A cordial invitation is given the public to attend and remain for the Tea.

CARD OF THANKS

To the many friends and associates of Dr. W. R. McChesney, who offered their sympathy and assistance during his illness and kind testimonials at his death, we offer an expression of thanks abiding in the deepest feelings of gratefulness.

seminary student, who still sends letters from the deep South.

Tom Kennon and his motorcycle, Allen Copeland the Sculptor, in a sweat shirt, Julius Boyer, the Hoosier tenor, and the immaculate little Gerron, Custodian John Grindle with his little wooly dog, Prof. L. D. Parker whose daughter Eleanor is now a movie star, "Bobby" Kalp who introduced the short hair style, or Kenneth Ritchie the knee-paint Freshman.

Maybe you can go back to recall Miss Carrie Blair, early mathematics teacher, who died of typhoid; or when Dave Spence left town; or Eleanor Holliday, girl's coach and English teacher; and P. H. Creswell and his horse "Closer" ("Get up, Closer.")

Emery Hoskinson, the wild man of the ball floor; Roy Henderson, mathematics wizard; Cam Ross the minstrel vocalist, taking off a glove five yards, long made of white stockings; Arthur Findlay, who brought the news-reel man to Cedar Day. Ann Collins and Ellen Tarbox, basketball stars, Ruth McPherson, Bea Walton, and Carmen Frazier, dramatic readers, Dick Cooper and Oakie Van Dine, the barbers, Willis Kenney the derby-wearing man-about-town, and the pint-sized Betty Badstuber. We remember lots more, and so, of course, do you, but we can not include them all.

A history is about the past. The present and the future have ordinarily no permissible place in it, though there are times when the past is of little value if we do not learn to rearrange the future accordingly.

Just at present, Cedarville College, like many another, is marking time. However tragic and hopeless wars may seem, they do not last forever, and on some not too distant day the whistles will blow, there will be dancing in the streets, and Johnny will come marching home. Then again will begin the age-old task of putting together the jig-saw pieces of a desolated world. In this often thankless but heaven-sent task the college hopes to have its part.

There are many schools where young people can be trained in the completely technical vocations and trades, but Cedarville is one of the too few which always hopes to add the vital ingredients of spirit and character.

In refutation of the completely practical argument, Fred McMillan, in a speech last year reminded listeners that, "Whether you realize it or not, the mere presence of Cedarville College has increased the value of every acre in Greene County."

If there is a rallying slogan needed for post-war development, then look to the one blazoned on the College seal, "For Christ's Crown and Covenant." You couldn't do better than that. As far back as 1909, Wilbur D. Nisbet, who knew a good thing when he saw it, put the purpose of the College into more flowing words: They cannot understand us, the folk of changing creeds,

But we have seen tomorrows grow from the yesterdays,
While man-made creeds have faded into the distant haze.

per dozen. Out in the country there has been such a glut of eggs that the farm prices have fallen as low as 14c per dozen. The War Food Administration, in an effort to sustain the market, has been buying thousands of cases of eggs at 27c per dozen, or $8.10 a case. Last week official information reached Congress that because of lack of storage space, the government had sold many car loads of these eggs at a case, or 1-6 of a cent per dozen, to be ground up for fertilizer and livestock feed, with the taxpayers paying the difference. At the same time Congress is appropriating millions to feed undernourished school children and aged persons. All of which is just another horrible example of how the social and economic planners can get things messed up.

Governor Bricker came to town last week and made a lot of political hay in two days. Accompanied by Senator Taft he appeared on a national radio program with a New Deal Governor and an Administration Senator for a forum discussion of postwar problems. The auditorium was crowded with Washingtonians, who are usually very much pro-New Deal, but the Bricker-Taft team won practically all the applause, as well as the debate.

The next night the Governor spoke to one of the most blasé audiences in America—the Republican Members of Congress, who have been listening to speeches and debates an average of 6 to 7 hours a day, almost continuously, for the last five years. Yet the frankness, sincerity and sound common sense of the Governor so captivated his listeners that twice, when he attempted to stop he was compelled to continue his discourse to the interested legislators. No other speaker appearing before this group in recent years ever received as spontaneous an ovation as that given Governor nor Bricker last Wednesday night. The Congressmen have been loud in his praises since, and his speech here may have a marked effect on the action of the Republican National Convention next week.

If present plans workout, Congress will recess next Saturday, the 24th, for the Republican National Convention which opens at Chicago on the 26th, and legislative sessions will probably not be resumed until late in July, or early August, following the Democratic National Convention.

Ralph, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spracklen, underwent a major operation at the McClellan hospital, Monday.

Mr. Fred Dobbins, who underwent an operation at University Hospital, Columbus, last week, was able to be returned home Monday. Mrs. Dobbins has been confined to her home as a result of a sprained hip.

For Our Boys and Girls On the Fighting Front..

YOU know, of course, that Geyer's Restaurants have exactly the same ration point problem as the smallest family. The only difference being that because over a thousand people eat at our tables every day, our problems are multiplied over and over.

You folks at home pay out twelve ration points for a pound of butter, and so do we. Your schedule of point values is our schedule, no more and no less. For all of us it requires considerable figuring.

And, like you, sometimes we get to feeling it is an awful headache... that is, until we stop a minute and reason with ourselves the purpose of it all. Then it is that we can philosophize a bit and our red-blooded patriotism comes to the front. If, we say to ourselves, by giving up the pleasures of serving our customers, the old time steaks, chops and many roasts about every day in the week, we can in this way help our heroic lads at the fighting fronts, then we certainly want to do it.

Rationing was introduced so that your boy and my boy, now in uniform, can have plenty of good food to eat. The black markets destroy all this, but we feel that if rationing is kept to the foods that are definitely short the black markets will cease to exist.

For we love and honor our boys and girls who are giving their all that the world may be free. And if by this rationing we can make easier their terrible loads, then we want to do it. Our customers, we know, understand.

What news will Gen. Eisenhower get from us?

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are smashing at our foe — sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America — what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis — the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan will undoubtedly be the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before — must buy double . . . yes, triple . . . the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double — that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can — that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 More reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.
